STRETCH WRAPPING MACHINE

Product Description

Stream Peak's stretch wrapping machine automates the pallet wrapping process. Designed for safety and security, this automatic pallet wrapper ensures that pallet loads are wrapped precisely, ensuring a seamless delivery experience.

Compared to manual wrapping, the machine provides a consistent and uniform wrapping pattern that results in a clean, neat, and highly professional appearance. Increase productivity of the packaging process and reduce overall film costs.

Equipped with an automatic height sensor, our machine detects and adjusts the wrapping process accordingly, ensuring that every pallet is perfectly wrapped. Additionally, users can set the desired number of rounds of stretch film around the pallet, giving full control over the packaging process.

Our machine offers a soft cycle function for lighter loads that prevents goods from toppling over during wrapping, adding an extra layer of protection to your products. Use Stream Peak's stretch wrapping machine for a smarter, more efficient, cost-effective way to wrap your pallets.
